Clocktopia

Create one or more clock-themed widgets to display on your desktop, with Clocktopia. This useful widget was created to be a companion to the built-in windows clock. It can display a time on your desktop. You can quickly and easily set the time and date. You can also choose from a large selection of fun and customizable clock faces. Create different themes, and choose between standard or manual clock settings. More information: Unlockable Addons If you don't want to unlock the whole add-on, you can still add the addon while locked, and activate it as soon as you unlock the add-on. We support both the old and the new versions, so you don't need to update. Pre-1.0.2 If you already have a Minimal Secure System Protection 1.0.2 or higher installed, and you want to add the unlockable add-on, you'll need to deactivate Minimal Secure System Protection. If you're not using any anti-virus software, or you haven't got any installed, you can deactivate Minimal Secure System Protection in the 'Windows Defender Security Center' menu. We recommend disabling it for at least 20 minutes, before you add the unlockable add-on, as it may cause problems. You can re-enable it once you've added the unlockable add-on. Pre-1.0.3 If you want to add the addon while you're using the new version of Minimal Secure System Protection, you can disable it by going to the following menu: (Click image to enlarge) Once you've added the add-on, you can re-enable Minimal Secure System Protection. Pre-1.0.4 The pre-1.0.4 versions of Minimal Secure System Protection are buggy, and you can experience crashes while they're being used. As a result, you can experience a temporary lock-up of your PC until you exit the Minimal Secure System Protection menu. Once you've added the unlockable add-on, you'll no longer be able to use Minimal Secure System Protection. For the time being, there is

As far as functionality goes, Clocktopia is synchronized with the local system clock. But you can also select a different time zone for it, as well as directly access the Date and Time panel found in Windows by default. Thanks to the default options provided by the operating system, you can also set the frame to stay on top of other windows, or set its opacity level to a preset value, ranging from 20% to 100%. Another important aspect to mention is that multiple instances are allowed. Therefore, you can open more than one Clocktopia widget, and select different clock faces for them to show on the screen. The widget is light on the system resources, using a minimal quantity of CPU and system memory. It has a good response time and works well, without making the OS hang, crash or pop up error dialogs. Unfortunately, it has not been updated for a very long time. Otherwise, Clocktopia can be handled with ease even by first-time users, thanks to its overall simplicity and limited features.
