The missile, an intercontinental ballistic missile (ICBM) called the Hwasong-12, is seen as part of a potential North Korean response to the missile defense system that the United States is now putting in place along South Korea. "The missile failed to launch because it was too early in the launch process," a South Korean Unification Ministry official told Reuters. "They fired the missile because the US is mobilizing a missile defense system in South Korea, and they want to express their dissatisfaction with South Korea." The White House says it will not be deterred by North Korea's threat. "We're not afraid of threats. We are confident in the steadfastness and strength of our armed forces," said Press Secretary Jay Carney. "We will not be intimidated. We will not be deterred. We will continue to 4bc0debe42
