Resume Rater [Win/Mac]

Resume Rater, "RATERS," function to Rating Resumes ( as per the latest "Human Brain" theory / model ) "read" each resume / text, pick the keywords related to your job requirements, and assign them a weight based on the frequency of occurrence of that keyword in the resume. The "Ratings" of all the resumes are displayed in a tabular format - as per the relative "Importance" of each of the keywords in the resume. You can select any of the categories displayed in the table to view the resumes in that category alone. There are 40 categories pre-defined. A "Reads" keyword by Resume Rater is basically a background search / activity, which checks the frequency of each of the pre-defined keywords in the resume. The keywords that are missing in a resume are shown in RED and the candidates who are missing ( aren't in the database ) are also highlighted in RED. So, you can skip the remaining candidates who are missing on the basis of this flag. Now you can select any of these candidates for further inspection / evaluation. Also, Resume Rater intelligently sorts the resume texts into different categories and organizes resumes based on their importance in the database. It saves your time ( - the scarcest resource ). You can Filter ( refine ) the list of resumes by selecting / deselecting the "Selected Categories" - the pre-defined ones or Categories based on the "Importance" of the resumes in the database. Resume Rater provides a shortlisting of the "top-rated" resumes - those which are in the selected categories. It automates ( albeit, thru collective intelligence of thousands of users), the "Rating" process. It vastly improves the quality of rating (being unbiased / untiring / thorough ). It enables you to spend more time interviewing / evaluating candidates (something which no software can do ). Resume Rater highlights (in RED) the keywords found in a resume. When you click on any of these keywords, a set of relevant INTERVIEW QUESTIONS pop-up! Then you can link CONSULT WIKIPEDIA to find answers! This feature works when you are online. Suddenly those thousands of un

What's New in the Resume Rater?

Resume Rater literally mimics human brain, as it "Reads" each resume, spots the presence ( or absence ) of the selected function / skill related keywords ( and their context ), and assigns predetermined "Weightages" (in human brain's parlance - the "importance") to each keyword to compute an overall SCORE for each resume. Here are some key features of "Resume Rater": Resume Rater "rates" resumes for their suitability / relevance against a given functional background or a given skill background that you are looking for in any resume. Resume Rater sorts the text resumes into categories When you click on any particular "Category" in the table, only the relevant resumes will get displayed It saves your time ( - the scarcest resource ). It automates ( albeit, thru collective intelligence of thousands of users), the "Rating" process. It vastly improves the quality of rating (being unbiased / untiring / thorough ). It enormously speeds-up the shortlisting process ( whom to call for interview?) You are no more glued to your mailbox!
