KEYMACRO is a development tool for creating macros for Microsoft Excel. Macro automation is a great way to automate Excel. While it is certainly possible to accomplish the same thing manually, using a macro will save you time, and it will add more functionality. Excel Macros: Macros in Microsoft Excel are not something new; the first versions of the software incorporated "macros" for the basic functions of formatting cells, moving ranges, etc. But things have evolved, and the macro API (Application Programming Interface) gives full control of Excel. Because of this, macros are now very powerful and you can use them to automate all sorts of tasks in your spreadsheet. For example, there are macro codes that allow you to perform calculations for you, to print values, or to export data from a database and more. All you have to do is select the code that you need and run it. Excel Macros: Developed with the latest features from Microsoft, Excel macros are now a comprehensive feature that allow you to perform an almost unlimited number of tasks for your spreadsheets. They can even be scripted to be launched on demand, depending on the conditions you define. - Manage multiple documents (if you need several macros that can be applied to different documents, and not just one) - Embed macros in other macros, reducing the number of clicks you need to perform to perform a task - Modify and embed Excel in your own application (you can generate your own XML file and then add a VBA project to it) - Create macros with Visual Basic.NET or Visual C#.NET - Add a macro directly to Excel from a .NET component, using the VSTO technology - Insert automation directly into the Excel application using VBA APIs - Speed up your work by automating tasks you would have to perform manually
