Technical Field The present invention relates to a liquid crystal composition, a liquid crystal display device, and an electronic device, and particularly relates to a liquid crystal composition that exhibits a liquid crystallinity in the presence of the applied electric field, and a liquid crystal display device and an electronic device each including the liquid crystal composition. 2. Related Art In recent years, liquid crystal display devices are often used as flat panel displays for color image display devices, such as television sets, instead of cathode ray tubes (CRTs). In addition, liquid crystal display devices are also used for various purposes such as monitors, notebook type personal computers, and mobile phones. In particular, in the field of mobile phones, since liquid crystal display devices are extremely lightweight and are thin and can be driven by being mounted with low power consumption and low voltage, the liquid crystal display devices are widely used for display devices of mobile phones, which require low power consumption and low voltage. The liquid crystal display devices can be roughly classified into two categories, depending on the operating mode of liquid crystals: a liquid crystal display device having a mode in which a liquid crystal composition that exhibits a liquid crystallinity in the absence of an electric field is filled in a liquid crystal cell, and a liquid crystal display device having a mode in which a liquid crystal composition that exhibits a liquid crystallinity in the presence of an electric field is filled in a liquid crystal cell. The liquid crystal display device having the mode in which a liquid crystal composition that exhibits a liquid crystallinity in the absence of an electric field is filled in a liquid crystal cell is referred to as a spontaneous polarization mode, in which liquid crystals having a positive dielectric anisotropy are aligned vertically to the substrate in a state where an electric field is not applied to the liquid crystal composition, and an alignment direction of liquid crystals is aligned in a vertical direction with respect to the substrate. The liquid crystal display device having the mode in which a liquid crystal composition that exhibits a liquid crystallinity in the presence of an electric field is filled in a liquid crystal cell is referred to as an artificial-dipole orientation mode, in which liquid crystals having a negative dielectric anisotropy are aligned horizontally to the substrate in a state where an electric field is not applied to the liquid crystal composition, and an alignment direction of liquid crystals is aligned in
