What's New In DebriefNG?

With software developed for maritime detection, patrolling, tracking and situational awareness of vessels, trackers can generate a vast amount of data. Often, this data is not presented in a format that is easily comprehended or interpreted by the individual in command of the vessel in question, thus requiring an analysis that is beyond the scope of any standard PC. DebriefNG is a leading 2D marine vessel tracker for operational software solutions. You can view multi-vessel tracks in different formats including the latest CTF-cert, and see where they went as well as the operation of the ECDIS. You can also search for and identify special targets like combatant vessels or special operation forces (SOF) from the US Navy. As an add-on to track files, tracks can be analyzed based on the sensor information and the mission profile of the ships in order to increase the situational awareness of command posts or fleet commanders. But 2D tracking isn't the only thing DebriefNG can do. The application supports 3D tracking and mapping. This adds a brand new dimension to operational awareness. Support for complex line data as well as triangulation of the position of a ship makes DebriefNG the tool of choice for tactical scenario planners. For those who need additional performance, the application offers on-the-fly tiling of the graph of tracked vessels to increase the size of the displayed area up to x 2 or more without affecting the performance. In addition to the 2D and 3D features, DebriefNG supports track file processing. This includes attaching a mission profile to a vessel track, displaying the corresponding maneuver patterns and periodograms, and converting color depth-gradients to grayscale. Updated 3D support Definitively adding a new dimension to operational ship tracking, new features in DebriefNG version 5.0 and above now offer complete 3D support. Modern radar systems offer 3D solutions. That means that you now don't only view the track of a vessel as a flat sheet, but are also able to view the track in the third dimension. Tracks of tracked vessels can be viewed as a 2D map. The position of each track is shown as a dot and the position of the ship is given as vector length. DebriefNG supports the viewing of multi-vessel tracks in 3D mode as a 2D map. You can see where they are, where they are heading and where
