Development Other Last night a friend who runs a gift company, asked me to review my favorite gift this year. I was going to say that it would have to be FIFA '17 (I have to mention the FIFA series since it's pretty awesome), but when my friend told me that it was a kid's toy, that really set me back. I am ashamed to say that it was a toy, not a gift from anyone I know. So what can you do? Well, it's a pretty tough year if you're a FIFA lover. Let's see what's in store this year. As usual, it's the newest mode in the franchise that gets my attention. The new Blitz Games are a real blast to play. I'm not the type to have a competitive edge on anyone, but when it comes to fighting, I'm no slouch. There are 5 new Blitz Modes available for players. FIFA '22 is finally out. It's the year that I've been waiting for; the football year. Everybody knows that I'm a big fan of the FIFA series. If the year of the FIFA 19, a couple of years back, was exciting for me, then the upcoming FIFA '22 is an even bigger deal. I remember the first time I used virtual reality. I'm not going to lie, my jaw dropped to the ground a bit. It was an amazing feeling being able to actually see myself on the field in my new football boots, using the Powerwall pack to boost my header, and play FIFA around the world as I did it here in the U.S. I wasn't too sure of myself back then, but I quickly saw that it was a pretty awesome experience and one that I'd love
