In the ice-shattered snow, a new world awaits! You've crash-landed on the frozen landscape of Alternia, and you're desperate for friendship! Do you have what it takes to survive? The fate of all of creation depends on you! Venture forth from the Breakers to explore the sunless lands of a strange, majestic world in this episodic mystery adventure. Your sole means of shelter is a massive, living ship. Your best choice: you must choose a side. Choose wisely, for failure is not an option... ..but what will your choice really mean, anyway? With a cast of colorful characters, a gameplay focus on conversation and exploration, an interwoven story of mystery and adventure, and a soundtrack by the talented videogame composer Jeff Vogel, this is a story about humans living in an alternate dimension, and the strange discoveries that may await you there! Who will you befriend? Related Updates

There will be additional content and updates released on the Mastereyes Arcade channel. Patreon updates are always released at the end of each month and will be posted over on the Patreon web page. The second issue of How to Keep A From Mario came out in German on April 29, 2014. This issue included everything from a new blog to a story in the comic called "Real World". Like I said in the last post, I plan to translate this into English in the next few months and upload it here. With this recent release, I won't be taking as many breaks in the updates on Youtube like I did previously. In the mean time, I have these new buttons to make it a lot easier for people to donate to my page or posts, but you could always message or e-mail me if they don't work. The next "How to Keep A" and "How to Keep A XXX" update will be sometime in July of 2014. If I get too much pressure from the community to finish it sooner, I will break it up into multiple parts. I would recommend checking out Mastereyes Arcade, because I sometimes post funny content and story updates on there as well. Once I get a working English translator, I'll upload a new English version for all of you. Once I start working on the new comic, it won't be on Youtube for a while, but I will continue releasing new content on Facebook. I have a lot of other series that I work on and complete on a monthly basis. Edit: Oh, my new 2-D comic series "How to Cook", the first issue will be released on June 1, 2014! It's a cookbook and comic that I released right here on Reddit. Some work I haven't shown here before: +Femsim Fantasy Game:

still making additional chapters?" might be correct. This looks to be an outtake from the battle chapter, where the protagonist is fighting off the endless army of enemies at the battle at Boob Island. I'm excited for this. It's just a little sad that the first big release is so late and so modest. Uhm, because this is a Hiveswap game. No. This is a visual novel. You are not a character in Homestuck. There are no portals to entities and whatnot in this game. You play Hiveswap Friendsim. Not Shiftswap Friendsim. Not Shakeswap Friendsim. Please check out the CHAPTER INFORMATION for a complete list of what exactly this game is about. I'm sure you're familiar with the term "Hiveswap Story." You can find it on the Hiveswap Wiki. That said, I'm still really excited for this game, and for all of you to play it. I believe it will be a very pleasant experience for all concerned. And after playing all of the previous friend games, I'm ready to say that this is easily the best one. That's all I have to say for now. I'll do my best to try and answer any questions, but I suggest you all check out the What is a visual novel? What is a visual novel? and What is a visual d41b202975

Theyre people with lives outside of us, and we very seldom dream about people outside of our own species, largely because, for better or worse, we rarely interact with them. However, thats about to change. You will travel across the globe as you observe the behaviors of over 140 different species, ranging from humanoid to humanoid-like to un-humanoid to simply generic. Youll investigate and witness different cultures, traditions, civilizations, and environments. Youll make decisions, build relationships, and you might just learn something from those you meet along the way. But everything you do will have consequences, so where will you decide to travel? Can you solve the mystery of the missing scientists at the local zoo? Will you maintain a calm and collected demeanor when an angry lobster becomes overly amorous? Its your job to learn the inter-species secrets of the people, places, and things that come before you. What's new in Hiveswap Friendsim - Volume Eighteen:

(Chapter 97) The previously emptied reaction tank in front of Crystal. If all it took was an empty box and add some level-up items, she probably wouldn't care. But Saori had to be procuring materials for the Soar of Hearts. The impossibility gave too great a sense of longing in her eyes. But right now, she mustn't forget her duty as Shirou's ally. "Shirou-kun." That pensive expression returned to her face. If she had given him any time to rest, he wouldn't have had to look for her. "You seem nervous." "I never know what to expect from you. Somehow, I feel as though you know that I won't always be like this. But even before I showed up, we've known each other for over a year, all of our lives, after all. We have so much history together. Ah, I hope it'll be fun." "I can't guarantee that it'll be fun, but it'll definitely be interesting. Shirou, this isn't the easiest thing for you. You're always ready to sacrifice yourself in order to protect me." The truth could never be said openly. Only the ones who knew could truthfully say that they didn't intend to die. Perhaps, they did, but they did not think about it again. But she was still right. "Anyway, if you're going to tell me that you'll be fine by my side, then I probably shouldn't feel surprised by that." That was a tasteless joke from her, but she still smiled. She wasn't feeling awkward. "I do, in fact, require your help. You're Shirou. There's no one else I can rely on." "Of course." Though this conversation was fascinating, and not boring, she was afraid of what they might see in their fragmented future. "I need you to replace me," said Saori. "What?" Shirou said with a furrowed brow. In the year and
