“War with the Magi is, of course, a spiritual war”--Selman: My Beloved Magus, Chapter 9

Much like its prequel, War with the Magi also finds a new audience in remake form. Although the original game is available as a PSone Classic on the PS3, the upcoming release of War of the Roses is a brand new and third-person action RPG that takes up where the original left off. It's the sort of action-RPG that plays a little bit like Diablo and a little bit like Final Fantasy, although much like Final Fantasy, theres's more depth to it than you might think.

Coffee consumption and biliary tract cancer incidence in the Iowa Women's Health Study. Results from a case-control study suggested that coffee consumption may protect against biliary tract cancer. To examine whether coffee consumption is associated with biliary tract cancer incidence, 1,732 women (mean age 54.0 years) enrolled in a prospective cohort study and who had not been diagnosed with cancer or emphysema during the study period were followed for a mean of 5.7 years for the development of biliary tract cancers. Cox proportional-hazards models, stratified by smoking status, were used to examine the relationship between coffee consumption and biliary tract cancer incidence. Participants reported frequency of consumption of any coffee, caffeinated coffee, decaffeinated coffee, and decaffeinated coffee with caffeine (as a percentage of their total coffee consumption). During 2,098,406 person-years of follow-up, 47 biliary tract cancers were diagnosed. The association between caffeinated coffee consumption and biliary tract cancer incidence was statistically significant for overall biliary tract cancer ($p = 0.02$) and gallbladder cancer ($p = 0.03$). Higher consumption of caffeinated coffee was also associated with a reduced risk of gallbladder cancer among smokers. No evidence was seen of any significant protective effect of noncaffeinated coffee, decaffeinated coffee, or coffee with caffeine. This study provides further evidence that coffee consumption is associated with a reduced risk of gallbladder cancer. right.
