Paleocalypse, a Zelda-style action RPG/adventure game, is the first entirely science-based videogame about the geological history of the world. In this multilayers turn-based game, you will adventure through an entire island by using the power of different tools. During your adventure, you will discover what is behind the events that led to this apocalypse. This is the first game in history in which players will discover the geological history of the world. Official Website : a widespread use of the Large-scale Database (LDB) system or the On-line Analytical Processing (OLAP) system, for example, as in a database of a bank, data quantity in a database increases every year, and its cost therefore increases. Therefore, it is desired to reduce the size of a database. As a method for reducing the size of a database, there is a method, called “caching”. In the caching, a value obtained by executing a data access instruction, for example, is stored in a cache memory in advance and is reused in place of a database, instead of execution of the data access instruction itself. With this method, the time required for execution of the data access instruction is reduced, and therefore, the size of a database can be reduced. In addition, in a database in which data with a large value of a total cost of goods sold (TCOS), for example, are kept, a specific data access instruction for correcting a total cost of goods sold of each product may be executed repeatedly in a lump at a different time. As mentioned above, a database for keeping data with a large value of a TCOS may contain data that are similar to each other. Therefore, when the data access instruction for correcting a TCOS of each product is executed, a solution can be obtained by executing the data access instruction repeatedly in a lump in accordance with the similarity of data between different products. As a result of execution of the data access instruction in a lump, it is not necessary to execute the data access instruction for correcting a TCOS of each product again and again, and it is not necessary to correct a TCOS of each product again and again in case of failure of correction of a TCOS of a product. Therefore, as compared with the case in which the data access instruction is executed each time, the execution time of a data access instruction can be reduced and an amount of data that are stored in

Each monochromatic light source that produces these wavelengths is referred to as a primary source, and their combination is referred to as a primary system. The color of the primary system is perceived as a white light by the human eye. As discussed in U.S. Pat. No. 6,904,445, white light that is composed of a set of primary monochromatic sources can be generated by a combination of two primary sources that are spatially separated from one another. White light that is generated by the approach disclosed in U.S. Pat. No. 6,904,445 has a high degree of reproducibility due to the fact that the two primary sources are operated to generate white light at the same time. A disadvantage of this prior art approach, however, is that the two primary sources must be operated synchronously, at least in terms of the appearance of the primary sources to the viewer. The
