Graviteam Tactics: Under the Cruel Star is a game of virtual reality mixed with arcade based vehicular combat. You control a WWII armored vehicle in quick time events set in World War II Europe. Two teams of large vehicles, tanks and self-propelled guns face off to see who can be the last man standing. Hit your opponents to break their vehicles and wipe them from the face of the earth. Then drive your vehicle out of the battle and over the horizon, away from prying eyes. Graviteam Tactics: Under the Cruel Star is published by Matrix Games and is available now at retailers nationwide. The official media kit for Graviteam Tactics: Under the Cruel Star is available at History is set to record that the 'Golden Dawn' was born in Libya in 1934 when three conscripts under the command of Captain Fred Grisewood swore a blood oath of eternal loyalty to King Constantine II. The 'Golden Dawn' then headed to the U.K. where it was quickly put on the payroll of Mussolini's Regio Esercito, being deployed first in the great Siege of Tobruk and later in the equally famous Battle of Bardia during the Italian invasion of Egypt. After the surrender of the Italian

Army in North Africa the 'Golden Dawn' was taken back to Libya and later participated in the Libyan Civil War in the rebel forces under the command of Colonel Gaddafi. With the fall of the Colonel the 'Golden Dawn' was taken into custody by the Dictator Colonel Muammar Gaddafi, only to be secretly released and the now re-named 'Grain of Wheat' was again put on the payroll of Mussolini's Regio Esercito. Moving onto Egypt in 1936 the 'Grain of Wheat' was again put on the payroll of Mussolini's Regio Esercito and sent to the front along the Suez Canal. Joining forces with the Regio Esercito and that part of the British Army called the 'Rifle Brigade', the 'Grain of Wheat' continued to drive the Allies back across the Sinai, over the Suez Canal, and into the barren lands of Egypt. With the Arab Spring and the collusion between the Gaddafi's of Libya and Egypt, the 'Grain of Wheat' came off the Regio of the Year for Steelers' Marcus Gilbert, Lamented by Those Who Favored His Contract Options The Steelers' All-Pro and team MVP plays his heart out for the team and dives headfirst into a raging river to save the life of a young lady who needed it. He is not a perfect human being and excels at being neither, and yet the Steeler Nation loves him. With all that in mind I wanted to share a blog I helped create in which Marcus Gilbert recounts to Adrian Wilson and his podcast the events that have enabled him to someday hope to have kids and be a father. We at The Historic Smithfield Tavern are sorry to hear that the dream of being a father is not attainable for Marcus Gilbert but am excited to share his gutsy and heroic story in hopes that it will encourage more dads to risk it all to be heroic. An excerpt from the blog that goes along with Adrian Wilson's radio program (I think) is reproduced below with words credited to Marcus Gilbert (and the quotations analyzed by mine). "I am the all time Lou-flavor cooker crew leader with the best belly and taste buds in the Steeler Nation. The most Superior Men to occupy the left and right guard position. I am now 34 years old. As long as I can remember in my life I have always daydreamed of being a father and have always yearned to be a true human and care for another human being. I have always been there for my family and friends by giving them hugs and making them feel loved and wanted in my home. As a young child I was always giving of myself, I've always been the first one in line and I have always been the one to help another young boy who's less fortunate. As a child I didn't know anything about what it meant to be a man or to be a man. I wasn't taught from getting in to how to live; I was just taught to open my eyes and eat and sleep. I didn't learn that learning was more important than food, reading was more important than sleep, or working hard to be a better leader was more important than receiving an education. I did receive education, I learned English and other subjects but it wasn't really important to me and I was taught to do a couple of things but not anything like being a father and having the ability to be a male. I didn't grow up with
