Q: SQL - Finding the average of one column on a condition I have the following problem in SQL: I have a table with the following fields uid timestamp 1 5 2 6 3 3 4 7 5 1 6 2 7 1 8 2 9 1 The table contains the time of day for a user. I need to find the average of the uid's on the day that the timestamp is between 11:00 and 17:00. My table has about 50 million rows and hence the performance is poor. What would be the fastest way to select the information? A: You can do this using a self join on the table: SELECT AVG(UserId) AS AverageTime FROM MYTABLE WHERE TimeStamp BETWEEN '2011-01-01 11:00:00' AND '2011-01-01 17:00:00' GROUP BY UserId Partial structure of the third functional domain of the vacuolar H+-ATPase (V-ATPase) from Rhodospirillum rubrum. The power of proteolytic digestion was used to develop a strategy for the analysis of amino acid sequences of the V-ATPase in membranes of Rhodospirillum rubrum. A protease that preferentially cleaved peptides with blocked N-termini (Lys-C) was used to degrade the V-ATPase in cell-free extracts. An extract was fractionated by chromatography on DEAE-cellulose and then anion exchange. The V-ATPase-containing fractions were then further purified by affinity chromatography on concanavalin A (Con A) Sepharose. Sequence information of peptides released by Lys-C was obtained by reversed-phase, high performance liquid chromatography (RP-HPLC). The data obtained were then used to infer partial sequence for the third functional domain of the V-ATPase. From these, a structural model of the

MOGADISHU/NAIROBI - The ongoing siege of Mogadishu, Somalia's capital, entered a fourth day on Tuesday (Nov 29), as the embattled government forces stand firm against the Islamist militant group al-Shabab. With no sign of a resolution, the world's worst humanitarian crisis and the worst military casualty count in Somalia since the early 1990s is taking on ominous, and possibly dire, dimensions, as two million people face the threat of famine, aid groups say. "It's a war without end, a human tragedy without end," UN Secretary-General Antonio Guterres said during a visit to neighbouring Ethiopia on Tuesday. "If not resolved, this crisis is likely to last many more years." In its latest press release, the UN estimates the number of people in Mogadishu at 2 million. "This is a war without end as there are no end. This is a human tragedy without end for the population," Guterres said. Al-Shabab said it was not negotiating peace, which has been a longstanding demand of the US-backed government. "What we are doing here is war. We are not interested in peace at this moment," said a spokesman for the group's military wing, Abu Yasir. "If the government wants peace and wants to talk peace, we will talk peace together," he told reporters. Lack of international assistance The humanitarian crisis has gained international attention, prompting troop deployments in neighbouring countries and some strong words from UN chief Guterres. But while a pledge of US$12 million from the European Union (EU) could potentially reduce the casualties, this has yet to materialise. "Their deployment is coming in very late," said Mohamed Abdikadir Hussein, the UN undersecretary-general for humanitarian affairs. "We are deeply concerned about the security situation, which means that there's a security barrier, so the UN is not allowed to move around in the city," Hussein told Al Jazeera. "And all deliveries are being stopped," he added. According to the UN, 2.6 million people in Mogadishu are "stunted", meaning that they suffer from malnutrition. "
