Truth: Disorder II - Soundtrack

Transforming urban areas into vast military installations, and military stations into moving communities, the Iron Defense uses its latest technology to create a world where the sole purpose is to protect. Since the emergence of the Seven Colonies, the Iron Defense employs one of the largest Territorial Regiments in the known Universe. Their goal is to enforce the Iron Defense doctrine across all known worlds: a vision which values the protection of natural resources for the continuation of the human race. The Iron Defense believes that the Earth is the only planet in our Universe that hosts the possibility of life, and that everything else is essentially worthless. All the other planets, moons, and asteroids are irrelevant to us, and all their resources must be protected. The only option for the survival of the human race is the total domination of the solar system, and the colonization of the alien worlds. Our mission: restoring the order and balance to the Universe that the Iron Defense has lost.

I'm a great supporter of the Art of Video Games Soundtracks, a great artist, musician, engineer and producer, i developed a musical style which transformed our cult-classic in the 80s, Soundtrack for Truth (Soundtrack for Truth: Disorder I). Our most important goal is to create a fun, addictive, original fun for the gamers, that let you escape from the reality, the same as the Movie Clips and Cartoon Characters on the consoles, on the TV. My favorite games series are: Castlevania, Metroid, Castlevania, Ninja Gaiden, Dragon Sword, Simpsons Tetris, Just Dance, Street Fighter, Final Fantasy, Super Mario, Dragon Ball Z, Metal Gear, Super Mario Bros., Zelda, Donkey Kong, Pokémon, Tetris, Pac-Man, Super Mario Bros., FIFA, Contra and of course Super Mario Bros. 3. What's new:

2. It has been the best friends who have struggled with the doctrine of the church and true doctrine the most. * This certainly applies to those of us who were active in our local ward. The scriptures tell us, "Woe unto you for ye know not the scriptures, ye do err" (Moro. 7:27). Then there's probably a special help meet, who knows everything, who doesn't need the scriptures. * We need the scriptures so that we can see where we've been misled and find the truth. If we only look at the same old idols, the current culture, and the politically correct facts we keep hearing every week, then the truth disappears before our eyes. We need the scriptures to find it (see Alma 5). Remember, we can get into too much trouble trying to fight battles we don't really understand. * While we're speaking of studying the scriptures, there is another activity that God expects of us. He offers a personal revelation such as Paul did. Joseph, Hyrum, and other great prophets received revelations from God in their studying of the scriptures. Most of all, we need to read the scriptures ourselves, by seeking the spirit and praying to know if the things we read are true. We also need to have a personal revelation concerning what the scriptures say. 3. It has also been the best friends who have stood before kings and stood up for what they believe and the truth, of have sat in courtrooms and sued to defend the truth to make sure that every man, woman and child has access to freedom of choice. * This applies to us all, but especially to us ministers of the gospel. We teach people the gospel, so they have the freedom to accept or reject it (see Moro, 5; 1 Nephi 13:33-34). Even in this time, when many are taking the gospel away from those who ask for it, there are those like those you will read about in Elder R. Palmer's next letters, and our new prophet, "who have returned to our Father in Heaven, so that they might find a true home." The gospel in these times needs to be taught and practiced. If we don't teach the gospel to the people we meet, they don't have it and they don't need it. * We can also give spiritual advice to those who are in the position that we were in when we were first teaching people the gospel. If we stay active
