W/D.C.HRK-.AND-OR.C.D.C.UFC 202: Jones vs. Cormier in Las Vegas and a rematch between Ronda Rousey and Amanda Nunes are just two of the big fight cards to hit the UFC in 2016. There are many more to come, so let's take a quick look at five fight cards that sound great. UFC 202: Jones vs. Cormier are as follows: Adrien Broner (-475) Kelvin Gastelum (-200) Josh Barnett (-300) Donald Cerrone (-190) Evan Dunham (-150) Underdog: Myles Jury The UFC has been leaning towards booking an undercard with momentum going into it. Jones vs. Cormier is an obvious choice, but if we're looking for some undercard aggression, look no further than the fight between ex-Strikeforce lightweight champion Gilbert Melendez looks to rebound from a third-round TKO loss to Dennis Siver while Poirier is fresh off a solid five-round decision win against Cole Miller that was one of the best fights of 2015. This fight could have a couple more chapters to it, and it has the potential to be a great back-to-back match. One thing to note is that Josh Barnett has gone 1-4 in his last five fights, and we don't know if the UFC will be willing to let him return. To get his career back on track, Barnett should take on Cerrone. Win or lose, he's still a tremendous fighter with a solid striking game, and he's too solid to be passed over. c6a93da74d
