About Me Favorite Movies Wednesday, February 15, 2006 I'm not sure how I can say this in a sound way, it may be too disturbing to hear, I'm not exactly sure how to say it. If you've been following my blogs here or on the other one, you know that a family member of mine has been born with a condition that no one would ever see in a normal life. After being in intensive care for almost a month now, at 1 month old, her condition has completely changed and she's no longer in intensive care. She's actually doing very well and has stopped crying lately. I won't tell you the details of what's happened to my sister because I don't want to disturb her with those details at all. I'm just glad that my beloved sister is finally doing well. I'm not seeing any improvement in her life at all. We're keeping her in the hospital for now but c6a93da74d
