the game is a single-player, single-cart racer with three types of cup races at the end of each course. in addition to the cup races, the player can also participate in time challenges on each course. time challenges are challenge cups, where the objective is to win without using too many items. there are also ten challenge cups at the end of the game, which are difficult and must be completed without any items. the highest place in the time challenge cups is 8th. if the player fails in a time challenge, he or she must start from the beginning of the course. multiplayer mode appears in the game by entering the players option on the gamecube's main menu screen. next, a connection screen appears, where each game system must be registered on the online service. along with character settings (whether the rear character is a driver or a item thrower), an e-mail address or password is needed to use the online function. the password is sent in plain text when the player enters their e-mail address, which was designed for safety purposes to prevent hacking. games that have completed the multiplayer feature use a colored hearts icon displayed on the online service's screen. the system's gamecube disc then displays the number of registered players. after players have finished playing a race, the game's virtual time is displayed on the gamecube's main menu. players can continue racing by selecting the option "race again" after this menu selection. the main menu lists what games are available for players to use. the menu also lists the latest and online players' statistics, along with the number of games played.
