The download option is becoming very popular and its users are very demanding. They do not want to compromise and they want the experience they were expecting. This is the reason why we are releasing games without DRM at all. They are 100% unoptimized (when we say 100% unoptimized, we mean 100%). But, they have their flaws, only that the final user and the gamers are not aware of them.

Since we believe that the user needs the best experience, we think that the user can live with glitches like stutters, low texture quality, maybe even low resolution (the majority of the final user will not even notice). Of course, the one who has the required knowledge can resolve these problems himself.

Steam has thousands of games available for download, but only a few of them are worth playing. We want you to have the full experience of the game. Instead of getting a standard product, we are providing you with a completely unoptimized version. After all, if someone says they can't play the game, we believe that they are lying. There are many players who complain about low frames rate. This is actually because they are using the GPU for games that do not really need a high GPU performance, but because they have the latest and greatest hardware, they say that they do not play the game. Also, the situation is very similar with other resources like audio files, movies or any other necessary resources to get the best experience. Here, too, we are providing you with unoptimized versions because they are able to play the game with acceptable quality, but you must apply your brain and know your games. We believe that no one can consider himself a complete gamer if he does not know all the games, so we are giving you the extra tools for you to be a total gamer. 5ec8ef588b
