A must have if you are watching subtitles with your hearing impaired children. Subtitles are often written on their lips in a way that is not even visible to the naked eye, so of course you can't read them. The software is very easy to use, just select the subtitles you want to delete, the date you want to date-stamp them with and press the Delete button. Support: I will take care of any support issues within 24 hours. You can also send me a message via E-mail. About the author: My name is Tatjana and I live in Austria. I am a working mother with one child and am very busy with work and family activities. I like to share my enthusiasm for video-games and especially video-games from Austria, Germany and Switzerland with the "world-wide-community" and hope that together we can create a better place for all gamers and share each other's joy. Eldridge recaps Heat's 61-point, first-half explosion that led to the win The Heat trailed just 11-10 after the first quarter, and it was easy to see why. A lot of it was related to the Oklahoma City Thunder's obvious advantage in size and athleticism. It wasn't until the Heat started to turn over the Oklahoma City ball and force their way through pick-and-rolls that they really started getting in a rhythm offensively. When they did, the Thunder defense started to break down and the team was able to find a bit of an offensive groove. Once the Heat started getting up, though, it was time for the Heat to really get up and start draining them from downtown. The team shot 12 of its next 14 from the 3-point line, and led by as many as 21 points. The Heat came away with the win, and their first of the season. Though James Harden was able to put up 29 points, all that mattered was the Heat outplayed him. The Heat outscored the Thunder 30-17 in the paint, and outscored them 15-1 in fast-break points. "We just came out here and played basketball," James said after the game. "You can't just play basketball. There are certain things you can do when the game is on the line and we came out here and we played like that." Kevin Durant even admitted after the game that the Heat just

What's New in the HI Notations Stripper?

HI Notations Stripper is a simple and easy to use program specially designed to enable you to remove hearing impaired notations from subtitles (.srt & .sub etc). The program uses Unicode instead of other language codes so it can be used in almost any language. It also works with many different subtitles formats. The program will automatically detect the file type you have, and automatically load the appropriate data for the subtitles format. You can change the settings if you want. The file settings will be applied to all the files you will edit. After the subtitles are automatically loaded, you can use the options to remove the hearing impaired notations from your file. The options will be displayed in the "Hearing Impaired Notations" tab of the program. You can select multiple subtitles at the same time if you have many files to remove notations. The program also has an option to skip subtitles with missing files. You can use this option if the subtitles you want to remove notations from do not contain all the files. The files settings can be saved as a profile so you can easily use the same settings for all files you edit. The settings can also be saved in the .ini file that is created by the program. This file can be saved on your computer or transferred to a DVD so you can use the settings without the program. There are also some settings in the program that can help you if you are a new user and don't know how to change the settings. Hearing impaired notations can be set in many different ways, and many different languages are also available. If you want to remove notations in other languages, please check the program settings. Some languages have two options for each notation. You can always check the settings to see which option is used for the files you are editing. The program also has an option to skip missing files. If you have several files to remove notations from, you can save the file settings, and you can then use the skip missing files option. The settings can be saved in the .ini file that is created by the program. This file can be saved on your computer or transferred to a DVD so you can use the settings without the program.
