I want to create a web application with php as the back end and mysql as the embedded database. I want to create some functions and I also want to be able to insert and update in mysql. I have the following function to create a database: function create_database($hostname, $username, $password, $name){ $db = mysql_connect($hostname, $username, $password); $db_selected = mysql_select_db($name, $db); if($db_selected){ return true; } else { return false; } } Here I used $hostname as my host and $username as my username. I also have a function to use the database here: function db_data($query){ $data = mysql_query($query); if(!$data) return false; return $data; } Here I use $query as a string that I want to send to the database (i.e. SELECT * FROM users) Here is the error message that I get: Warning: mysql_query() [function.mysql-query]: Access denied for user 'root'@'localhost' (using password: NO) in /home/jakuc/php/functions.php on line 79 How do I solve this? A: You are not authenticated to mysql server using the current username. Check the credentials and change the username. And probably use mysqli_* functions instead of mysql_*. During the last decades, various types of optical biometric systems have been investigated and developed. Most of these systems
