KeyMacro for Windows 7 has all the features a simple macro recorder should have. It allows you to create two types of macros. The first type is the macros with actions only, and the second type is the macros with actions and a key sequence assigned to it. In the first type, you can create macros with action only that will work on all windows (such as opening and closing them or typing a text). It also includes a time delay function that can be useful in most cases. It includes a few other handy features such as providing you with the recordings and a simple user interface. The second type of macros is the best one because it will allow you to assign a key sequence to it. With this key sequence, you can directly activate the assigned function of the macro whenever you are in need. It also has the function to record your actions and a time delay function. It works like a standard macro recorder and it has a simple and easy to use interface that does not require any technical skills.

Customization options: The customization features include using all features of KeyMacro and using your own settings for the recorder, the recorder window, and the recorder size. It also has customization options for the list of currently used macro. It is a very light weight application and it only takes up less than 1 megabyte of disk space, which means that you can store it in any folder where you can keep small and simple applications.

Features: A great feature of the software is that it provides you with a huge number of customization features such as using a custom recorder window, using your own settings for the recorder window, and even having the recorder window of your own. In fact, this software does not provide you with any recorder window, as it is completely customizable and can be used in any type of window such as a unique recorder window, which can be one that has a different look and feel for every type of window. It also has the ability to assign a key sequence to the macros you create. All in all, you will never need to go back to another macro recorder since it is already here.

Record the actions and the key sequence: When you start using KeyMacro, you will be given a number of options. The first option is to record the actions and the key sequence. These two options are the most important ones, as they can help you to create a simple macro. When you need to create a simple macro, you can simply record the actions and the key sequence 2edc1e01e8
