Q: Monitor a server status with php Actually, I want to monitor my server, I just have to wait about 10 sec and do some action. I use this code : $connection = fsockopen("178.200.x.x", 80); if (!$connection) { // died before connection die("Connection failed!"); } while(!feof($connection)) { echo "Server : ". fgets($connection, 1024); sleep(5); } fsockopen() works but i don't know how to test the connection in another loop. A: Based on your comments, you want to be notified of the connection status every 5 seconds, or after 10 seconds, regardless of whether the server is up or down. The simplest way to do this is to just poll: while(true) { if (!$connection) { // socket is closed sleep(10); } else {
